How to Teach Your Child About Personal Space

Most children have a built-in understanding of how close to stand to other people when talking to them. But children who struggle with social cues often don't have that awareness. They may turn off or annoy peers by standing too close. Here's how to help.

Show the right distance

Generally, 1.5 metres is a good amount of space.

Make a helicopter circle by stretching out your arms and spinning around. Make sure you do not touch anyone while you do this.

1.5 metres

Success begins with education

Parents will be able to visit the website and watch daily videos from a teacher that will teach their children about various topics in the booklet. One can also download the PDF version of the book on the website.

Start learning anywhere - on your smartphone, tablet or desktop computer at home or follow the instructions on each printed page.
